SALES CONDUCTED BY MR. FREDERICK A. CHAPMAN

FOREWORD

I HAVE been asked to write a few words by way of introduction to the catalogue of the library of my dear friend, Winston H. Hagen. It is hardly necessary to do so, as the well selected and beautifully proportioned character of the collection speaks for itself, and it is at once evident to the most casual observer that it was formed by one intimately familiar with the history and development of English literature.

Mr. Hagen often said that when he first began buying rare books, he had formed a plan to secure a small but important collection which should consist of the monumental works of the leading authors from Chaucer to the present day. For instance, a First Folio Shakespeare, 1623; Paradise Lost, 1667; Burton's Anatomy, 1621; Pope's Dunciad, 1728; Goldsmith's Vicar of Wakefield, 1766, and so on until he should cover the development of our literature from the early days to our own time. But gradually, while still pursuing this intelligent plan, he found himself from time to time enlarging his scope here and there as seemingly unusual opportunities occurred to add treasures that he found too attractive to resist. So almost unconsciously he found himself a general collector of all English writers. Hagen was a collector because he was essentially a book lover and student of literature, and did not buy simply to add a rare item to his catalogue, that aside from its rarity had little else to recommend it. And so it has developed that, in my opinion, a better planned collection within its well-defined limits has never been dispersed by auction. And now this splendid result of a lifetime is to be broken up, and those cherished volumes are to find other homes and other owners. Perhaps it is better so. I remember the late Robert Hoe returning from abroad told me of the neglect he had seen in some famous libraries, where priceless Caxtons were carelessly thrown into open bin-like shelves, and covered with grime and dust, permitted to lie there neglected and forgotten. "No," said he, "rare books should go to those who value and love them." This is no doubt the reason his library was dispersed by auction and not bequeathed to an institution.

When I come to turn over hastily the proof sheets of this collection, I am struck by its completeness. Never before have any such collections of the works of Donne, Dryden, Gray, Milton, Pope and others been offered to the bids of the public. If I were asked what is the scarcest item in the sale, I should unhesitatingly say that charming little volume containing four of the poems of John Skelton, Poet Laureate to King Henry VII. Two of these little booklets were in the Hoe Library, but this lot of four from the Locker Library is probably unique. Mr. Hagen was very fond of the Songs and Sonnets (Tottle's Miscellany) of 1574. This is a rare book and not to be regarded lightly. But why point out the gems in this cabinet of gems? The keen collector, the eager buyer will recognize and note them. One who followed with some apprehension Mr. Hagen's continual investment in books said he thought he would do better to purchase good bonds. "No," said Hagen, "my books are worth more than your bonds." Let us hope he was right; and recent events in the stock market would seem to confirm his judgment.

BEVERLY CHEW.

It is believed there were fifty or more editions of this work published immediately after the King's execution, and its authorship has been attributed to Dr. Gauden and to King Charles himself. This copy has the scarce leaf of errata and the errors in the pagination of sig. G. With the bookplate of Edward B. Pope, of Hammersmith.

"The Scriptures tell me, dear Wrangham, that Ingratitude is worse than the sin of Witchcraft; that I might not therefore be condemned of the former, I must plead guilty to the latter, with this distinction, that, instead of being the Wizard, I am the Bewitched. I have indeed incautiously drunk too deeply from the bowl of the blameless Circe. The sweet intoxication that makes the Heart forget its duties and its cares. I give you however but little credit for your conjecture—as if I mistake not, you drew the Truth from the well of your own Experience," etc. A fine example.

London: Printed for R. Dodsley in Pall-Mall, 1751

THE EXCESSIVELY RARE FIRST EDITION. Has the word "hidden" instead of "kindred" spirit, in the fourth line of page ten, peculiar to the earliest issue, and the other misprinted lines which occur. Several corrections have been written on margins in an early hand. The Elegy circulated freely among Gray's friends for some time before it was published, which was finally done by Dodsley from the manuscript copy given by the poet to Horace Walpole, who probably wrote the preface signed "The Editor," designed by Gray to preserve his anonymity. He received no remuneration for the Elegy, considering it beneath a gentleman's dignity to accept money from a bookseller, and in this view the bookseller concurred. Gray says in a later note that the Elegy was "publish'd in Febr'y 1751 by Dodsley, & went thro' four editions in two months, and afterwards fifth, 6th, 7th, 8th, & 9th, 10th & 11th." AN EXTRAORDINARILY LARGE COPY, measuring 10½ by 7¾ inches; very considerably larger than the Hoe copy. bolic bands on title and page five. Thin 4to, full straight-grain green morocco, gilt tooled back and borders, gilt edges, by Bedford.

London: Printed for R. Dodsley in Pall-Mall, 1751

"An Elegy Wrote" is changed in this edition to "Written" on title. Here too, are several typographical corrections, and the first appearance of the four extra lines at the end of the Elegy. Bound in with it is: "An Evening Contemplation in a College. Being a Parody on the Elegy in a Country Church-Yard. By another Gentleman of Cambridge." London: Dodsley, 1753. This latter is the First Edition, and was written by John Dunecombe.

London: Printed for R. Dodsley in Pall-Mall, 1753

Has the new form of title page, which was not retained in subsequent editions. In this edition the preface appears as in the earlier ones. The four extra lines at end are dropped in this edition. Very scarce in uncut condition.

581. [GRAY (THOMAS).] An Elegy Written in a Country Church Yard. THE NINTH EDITION. Symbolic bands on title and fifth page. Small 4to, half crimson morocco [by Club Bindery].

The Epistles "Paris to Helen" and "Helen to Paris," which appear here at pp. 197 and 215, were issued in 1612 by Jaggard in "The Passionate Pilgrim," under Shakespeare's name. Heywood protested to Shakespeare who had Jaggard alter the title in those copies which had not been sold. It is curious that the verses were generally assumed to be by Shakespeare until Dr. Farmer noted their true author in 1766. With the William Harris Arnold bookplate. Scarce. Fine copy.

London: Printed by J. Streater, 1657

FIRST EDITION. Fine, crisp copy. The double-page plate of London is interesting as showing the City in Shakespeare's time. Tho' the book is dated 1657, the view must have been engraved much earlier, as the flags are flying on the theatres (Globe and Bear Garden) which were closed during the protectorate period.

London: Printed, and are to be sold by Peter Parker, 1667

FIRST EDITION, WITH THE FIRST TITLE-PAGE, having the author's name in LARGE TYPE. A very fine copy. Mr. Hagen has written on the fly-leaf that this copy was "Rebound from original calf binding which was too far gone to repair." In the process of binding it was seen that the title-page WAS PART OF A SIGNATURE, and NOT A SEPARATE LEAF as in the case of the issue with the "Second" title, 1667, which would seem to settle the priority of these two titles. At the back of the volume has been bound in, the "Fourth" title-page, with the additional matter and the "Errata," which was NOT INCLUDED in the genuine first issue. THE GENUINE BLANK LEAVES at front and end are present. On one of the former is written "Betty Elsley, York, October the 15, 1765."

806. MILTON (JOHN). Paradise Lost. A Poem Written in Ten Books. By John Milton. Small 4to, original calf, back restored at top, in green levant solander case.

London: Printed, and are to be sold by Peter Parker, 1667

FIRST EDITION, with the SECOND TITLE-PAGE. Crisp copy in the original binding. The present copy shows the original title-page to have been cancelled, WITH THE STUB CLEARLY IN EVIDENCE, and the new title added, with the name of the author in SMALL CAPS. The present copy CONTAINS "The Argument," "The Verse" and the "Errata," notwithstanding the Grolier Collation (Wither to Prior) states that this preliminary matter was NOT added until the edition with the "Fourth" title-page. The Church Catalogue agrees with the Grolier Catalogue in regard to these preliminary leaves, not only in this, but also in the following issue, AND COPIES POSSESSING THE ADDED MATTER ARE UNUSUAL. A comparison of the "Errata" in SECOND and THIRD issues (in the present collection) with that in the Fourth, shows that IT WAS EVIDENTLY RESET in the latter issue. There is a curious error in the last line but one of the "Errata," "Lib. 2" being misprinted for "Lib. 6."

180- 807. MILTON (JOHN). Paradise Lost. A Poem in Ten Books. The Author J. M. Small 4to, full green levant morocco, gilt and blind-tooled back and sides, gilt edges, by Riviere.

London: Printed, and are to be sold by Peter Parker, 1668

FIRST EDITION, with the Third Title-page. The author's initials only appearing on the title-page, and the word "Written" dropped. THIS EDITION ALSO HAS THE PRELIMINARY MATTER, similar in typography with that in the previous issue, and having the curious error in the last line but one of the "Errata."

240- 808. MILTON (JOHN). Paradise Lost. A Poem in Ten Books. The Author John Milton. Printer's ornaments of fleur-de-lis. Small 4to, full red straight-grain morocco, gilt back, gilt edges, by Hayday.

London: Printed by S. Simmons, 1668

FIRST EDITION, with the Fourth Title-page. With the preliminary leaves, containing the six-line note "The Printer to the Reader" signed S. Simmons. This matter has evidently been reset, as there are a number of typographical differences. With the Twopeny and Tho. Trollope Browne bookplates.

155- 809. MILTON (JOHN). Paradise Lost. A Poem in Ten Books. The Author John Milton. Small 4to, red levant morocco, gilt and blind tooled back and sides, gilt edges, by Riviere.

London: Printed by S. Simmons, 1669

FIRST EDITION, with the Sixth Title-page (usually termed the Seventh). This evidently has the preliminary leaves printed from the same type as the added matter in the Second and Third issues, as it contains the curious error in the last line but one of the "Errata," and is WITHOUT the note "The Printer to the Reader." With the Lefferts bookplate.

130- 811. MILTON (JOHN). Paradise Lost. A Poem in Twelve Books. The Author John Milton. Engraved frontispiece portrait by Dolle. 8vo, full blue levant morocco, gilt back, sides tooled in Grolieresque style, gilt edges, by Riviere.

The Very Rare FIRST EDITION. Differs slightly from the Hoe copy in that the verso of [ 4] has Errata, in the Hoe this page is blank. The volume was condemned by the Star Chamber, the author heavily fined and sentenced to lose his ears in the pillory. This is the first English book publicly burned by the common hangman. The passages, reflecting on Queen Henrietta Maria for acting on the stage, which were ordered cancelled before publication, are present in this copy. Many interesting references to early English writers and plays occur, including Shakespeare, Christopher Marlowe and others. The present copy contains the original page 708, respecting ladies of quality acting on the stage, which the Privy Council ordered to be cancelled.

of fugitive poetry, which I shall reckon very incomplete without a specimen or two from your poems and those of Wordsworth . . . the little ballad called 'We are Seven' and another called Glen Almain. . . . I agree entirely with you that Wordsworth lives too much for the lyre; the study of poetry however delightful in itself is so warped & woven in with the desire of fame that it engages the student too far in pursuit of that most capricious of all fantasms.*"
He devotes a whole page to Napoleon's policy and gives his opinions of it.

Printed at London by Tho. Cotes, and are to be sold by John Benson, dwelling in St. Dunstan's Church Yard, 1640

THE EXCEEDINGLY RARE FIRST EDITION AND A SPLENDID COPY, although the lower margin of the Portrait has been very skilfully margined. Contains on the fifth leaf of the volume a second title-page, identical with the first except for the omission of the date. This is frequently missing. It is preceded by two prefatory Poems by John Warren and Leonard Digges, the latter being a most valuable contribution to our stock of knowledge concerning "the mighty master" and his Plays, showing that his dramas always brought crowded houses while Ben's Volpone and "subtill alchemist"—the most popular of all dramatic works by others than Shakespeare—sometimes scarcely defrayed the "sea-coale fire and doore-keepers." The last 11 leaves are occupied by "An Addition of some excellent Poems, to Those Precedent, of renowned Shakespeare, by other Gentlemen." These are by Ben Jonson, Francis Beaumont, Milton, Herick and others. THE ONLY COLLECTED EDITION OF SHAKESPEARE'S POEMS THAT WAS PUBLISHED DURING THE SEVENTEENTH CENTURY. With the Frederick Locker bookplate.

[SEE ILLUSTRATION]

5900- 1075. SHAKESPEARE (WILLIAM). Mr. William Shakespear's Comedies, Histories, and Tragedies, Published according to the true Original Copies. The Third Impression. And unto this Impression is added seven Playes never before Printed in Folio. Viz. Pericles Prince of Tyre. The London Prodigall. The History of Thomas Id. Cromwell. Sir John Oldecastle. Lord Cobham. The Puritan Widow. A York-shire Tragedy. The Tragedy of Locrine. Portrait and verse by Ben Jonson on leaf facing title. Folio, full crushed crimson morocco, richly gilt tooled on back, panels, and inside borders, gilt edges, by F. Bedford.

London: Printed for P. C., 1664

THE THIRD FOLIO. A very beautiful, clean, crisp copy, with unusually large margins, measuring 13¾ by 8¾ inches, considerably larger than the fine Hoe copy. Ben Jonson's verses on the portrait have the thirteen words in italics, and Shakespeare's name spelled with the final "e." The excessive rarity of the Third Folio has led to the general acceptance of the theory that a very large number of copies were destroyed in the Fire of London in 1666.

780- 1076. SHAKESPEARE (WILLIAM). Mr. William Shakespear's Comedies, Histories, and Tragedies. Published according to the true Original Copies. Unto which is added, Seven Plays, Never before Printed in Folio. Viz. Pericles Prince of Tyre. The London Prodigal. The History of Thomas Lord Cromwel. Sir John Oldecastle Lord Cobham. The verses by Jonson on portrait page have only five words in italics and the final "e" is dropped from Shakespeare's name. THIS COPY HAS THE SCARCE IMPRINT CONTAINING THE NAME OF R. CHISWELL, sometimes called "The Chiswell Imprint." With the White Wallingwells bookplate.

830- 1125. SHAKESPEAREANA. Three Portraits by George H. Hall, the well-known American Painter. For an interesting account of him and his work, see Clement's "American Painters of the Nineteenth Century." He was a student and lover of Shakespeare, and painted a number of Shakespearean subjects. In the late eighties he conceived the idea of painting a portrait of the dramatist, representing him in a moment of inspiration and ready to transfer thoughts to paper. He was then in Rome, where the present pictures were begun. After the completion of the three paintings he made from them (copying No. I more particularly) a large portrait about 40 x 50 inches, and presented it to the Shakespeare Memorial at Stratford-on-Avon, where it holds a prominent position. Every one of the portraits is signed by the artist, and one is dated. They are combined in one frame, and were purchased direct from the estate of the artist, now deceased.

ONLY THREE COPIES MADE

535- 1126. SHAKESPEARE-BOOTH BRONZE MEDAL-LION. Circular bas-relief of Edwin Booth and William Shakespeare, with a legend: "See the Players Well Bestowed." Signed by Theodor Bauer, 1892. Diameter 16 inches.

Only three copies of this fine bronze were made for Mrs. Rachel McAuley. And one copy was given by Mrs. McAuley in memory of her husband and his friendship for Edwin Booth to The Actors' Fund Fair, and was purchased by The Players Club by means of a subscription among its members for the sum of $1,090. This was acquired by Mr. Hagen at the time of the death of Mrs. McAuley from her executors. The third copy is in private hands.

660- 1127. SHELLEY (PERCY BYSSHE). Queen Mab; A Philosophical Poem: With Notes. 8vo, elaborately bound in crushed crimson levant morocco, with green, white, and citron mosaics in a rich design of arabesques and scrolls, doublures of crushed crimson levant with mosaics on borders, silk fly leaves, enclosed in case, by The Club Bindery, 1906.

London: Printed by P. B. Shelley, 1813

THE VERY RARE FIRST EDITION, with Shelley's name on imprint and on colophon, dedication leaf "To Harriet —," and half title with "Notes" following page 122. According to Carlisle, the publisher, only 180 copies were issued, and it is known that Shelley cut his name from imprint and colophon, from as many copies as he could reach.

1128. SHELLEY (PERCY BYSSHE). Alastor; or, The Spirit of Solitude and other Poems. Small 8vo, full red levant morocco, gilt top, by Riviere.

London: Printed for Baldwin, Cradock, and Joy, 1816

THE EXTREMELY RARE FIRST EDITION, in superb condition. This book was apparently rare as early as 1824, for Mrs. Shelley, in the Preface to the "Posthumous Poems" of that date says: "I have added a reprint of 'Alastor, or the Spirit of Solitude': the difficulty with which a copy can be obtained is the cause of its republication." With the D. F. Appleton bookplate.

1129. SHELLEY (PERCY BYSSHE). Laon and Cythna; or, The Revolution of The Golden City: A Vision of the Nineteenth Century. In the Stanza of Spenser. 8vo, full crushed green levant morocco, gilt tooled inside borders, gilt top, other edges uncut, by Riviere.

London: Printed for Sherwood, Neely, & Jones, &c., 1818

FIRST EDITION. Exceedingly rare. This volume was immediately suppressed. It was immediately revised and re-issued under the title, "The Revolt of Islam," in which Cythna is described as an orphan adopted by Laon's parents, instead of as his sister, as in the suppressed book. This copy has the preliminary blank with the paper label pasted on, the blank leaf following title, and the final leaf of errata. A beautiful, uncut copy, from the Locker Lampson collection, with bookplate.

1130. SHELLEY (PERCY BYSSHE). The Revolt of Islam; A Poem, in Twelve Cantos. 8vo, full crimson levant morocco, gilt top, uncut, by Worsfold.

London: Printed for C. and J. Ollier, 1818

VERY FINE COPY of the EXTREMELY RARE FIRST EDITION, containing the SCARCE SECOND HALF TITLE after page XXXII, and the Leaf of Errata.

This is really the "Laon and Cythna," with a new title and a few alterations, which Ollier, the publisher, refused to sell when only a few copies had been disposed of.

The second half-title is of the EXTREMEST RARITY; indeed, Buxton Forman states that he knew of only two copies containing it. The leaf of "errata" is precisely the same as that in "Laon and Cythna," calling attention to errors which are in some cases corrected.

1131. SHELLEY (PERCY BYSSHE). The Cenci. A Tragedy, In Five Acts. By Percy B. Shelley. 8vo, half green morocco, gilt lettered, gilt top, other edges entirely uncut, bound by Pratt. Italy: Printed for C. and J. Ollier, 1819

Skelton:

come ye nat to courte. Imprinted at London by Richard Kele, dwelling [sic.] in the Powltry at the longe shop, [ca. 1545]. Collation: A to D in eights, including woodcut of Skelton on verso of colophon and another of Skelton and Woolsey (?) on verso of title, last leaf blank, with some very early writing on verso. Earliest known edition.

(3) Here after foloweth the boke of Phyllyp Sparowe. Prynted at London at the Poultry by Richard Kele, [ca. 1545]. Collation: A to D in eights, with woodcut of Sparowe's tomb on final verso. Earliest known edition.

ALL PRINTED IN BLACK LETTER. These early printed works of Skelton are of the utmost rarity: the Hoe collection had only two of the above, Colin Cloute, and Why come ye nat to courte; the Huth collection had the same two and also Phyllyp Sparowe; neither had the "Certayne Bokes." Bibliographers differ somewhat in attributing dates to these Richard Kele imprints, but as he had his Press "in the Powltry at the long shop," only from 1542 to 1546, the assumption that they are of the years intervening is clearly justified. A few margins are very slightly stained, the outer margin of the first title is slightly re-enforced, and corners of the last two leaves have been restored. With the Locker bookplate.
